

There is HOPE for students who struggle with learning. We can HELP!

DO YOU RECOGNIZE THESE SYMPTOMS?

TRANSFORMING STRUGGLING STUDENTS INTO SUCCESSFUL STUDENTS THROUGH OUR UNIQUE THERAPEUTIC APPROACH TO SOLVING LEARNING DISABILITIES.

Essential Learning Institute's LDHope program offers a unique and effective therapy for students with learning struggles. We have found that many other learning disability programs focus on reading remediation, tutoring, or training. This is where we are different. LDHope identifies the root cause of learning issues, then strengthens weak areas, thus training the brain to integrate new information.

- low self esteem
- poor reading comprehension
- avoids reading and writing
- poor enunciation
- impulsive or overactive
- seems disorganized
- distracted
- confuses or reverses letters
- emotionally upset about schoolwork / homework
- fails to complete tasks
- struggles in spelling and reading related work
- fails to remember instructions

“ At LDHope we have been solving learning problems since 1993. Thousands of students from around the world have used our program to find learning success. ”

After completing this nine-month therapy program with my students, I can say LDHope is the most effective, fastest program for students who struggle with learning disabilities that I have ever seen. The results are permanent. - Principal, PA

I wish we would have found this program earlier. - Ruth, parent.

There is HOPE we can HELP

HELP YOUR STRUGGLING STUDENTS!

One school year (or less) is all it takes!

If you are like many school administrators, you face the constant pressure and burden of students who are unable to keep up with your academic program

- Year after year you lose several students due to learning disabilities.
- You try to help students with learning problems but often with little success
- You find that you are unable to accept new students because of learning difficulties or learning disabilities.

There is HOPE and we can HELP! - www.LDHope.org

For more than thirty years we have been working with schools and individual families around the globe providing affordable help for learning differences, disabilities, and struggles. Help that lasts a lifetime.

How does it work?

The first step is to identify the problem. Using an interactive learning assessment, we go straight to the root of the child's learning struggle, and from there provide a fully customized therapy program that directly addresses the areas of weakness in order to strengthen the student's memory and learning processes.

What does the program look like?

In a nutshell, the program is a series of exercises that connect the visual learning process with the auditory learning process, works to build memory and retention, and requires a kinesthetic output.

The schedule is not overwhelming, only one hour per day four consecutive days per week for roughly nine months.

We have a complete training and therapy package for you and your teachers to learn how to evaluate students for learning disabilities and to monitor or supervise the computerized sensory integration therapy program. Take advantage of this wonderful opportunity to watch your students regain their enthusiasm for learning. In many cases, students in schools using the LDHope program are now making the honor roll. Failing students are succeeding in areas where they had previously given up all hope.

Outstanding support! Until your staff is ready or comfortable, we provide each student with an advisor who monitors each student to ensure that the student is receiving the full benefit of the program. There are other benefits too. The program is user friendly. Teachers and students alike learn to use the program in a very short time. The program is also affordable and allows the school to earn a profit if it so chooses. *contact us for suggestions.

Learning Deficiencies and Parental Worry

WORRY AND DISAPPOINTMENT

Parents are often worried and disappointed when their child has learning problems. There are many reasons for school failure, but a common one is a specific learning disability. A child with a learning disability is usually bright and initially tries very hard to follow instructions, concentrate and be good at home and in school. Yet despite this effort he or she is not mastering school tasks and falls behind. Some learning-disabled children also have trouble sitting still or paying attention. Learning disabilities affect as many as 15 percent of otherwise able school children.

SNOWBALL EFFECT

Child and adolescent psychiatrists point out that learning disabilities are treatable, but if not detected and treated early, they can have a tragic snowballing effect.

For instance, a child who does not learn addition in elementary school cannot understand algebra in high school. The child, trying very hard to learn, becomes more and more frustrated, and develops emotional problems such as low self-esteem in the face of repeated failure. Some learning-disabled children misbehave in school because they would rather be seen as bad or stupid.

BE AWARE OF COMMON SIGNS OF LEARNING STRUGGLES IN YOUR CHILD

Has difficulty understanding and following instructions.

Has trouble remembering what someone just told him or her.

Fails to master reading, writing, and/or math skills, and thus fails schoolwork.

Has difficulty distinguishing right from left, for example, confusing 25 with 52, b with d or on with no.

Lack coordination in walking, sports, or small activities such as holding a pencil or tying a shoelace.

Easily loses or misplaces homework, schoolbooks or other items.

Cannot understand the concept of time; is confused by yesterday, today and tomorrow.

Schedule your child's learning assessment today! www.LDHope.org

Today more than ever it is important to strengthen each child's self-confidence and is vital for healthy development.
